With F.M.L.

We can look across the center block from Herald offices and see the outline of what will be the new center of town.

It is going to be quite impressive. Picture the walkway - fountain - center of the mall, well lighted at night, with a fountain of water and some kind of walk, perhaps with benches here and there and some decorator architecture, of stone, perhaps.

It will be so far removed from what is coming out of these old blocks, the impression will be as great James Brock's bronzes on Taos.

112-112-112

Thanks to so many people, for James, for their interest in his progress as an artist, particularly in the Taos element of tough competition. Comments on his stories and the columns on side areas of his recent trip have been favorable.

Modestly enough, James is taking all this in stride. He is also teaching some courses in early week evenings. He said he has about 30 students who have finished some kind of training under him. In five years, it might be 200, out of which a few may develop into artists.

Cameron, indeed, can be proud of this man.

Thieves Break In Mack's Oil Co.

Four tires and some change were stolen from Mack's Oil Company sometime Monday night in a breakin being investigated by city police and the sheriff's department.

Entry was gained through a back door, and the thieves broke open the office door and ransacked the office, strewn papers all over the floor. Some keys were also taken from the office.

The cigarette machine was also broken into, and money was taken from it.

The breakin was discovered at 7 a.m. when the service station was opened.

State To Pay For Primary Elections

Secretary of State Bob Bullock announced today that he is mailing detailed instructions to all county party officials concerning the operation and financing of the 1972 primary election.

"I am following the Texas Election Code procedures in every instance possible. The primaries are going to be conducted in the same manner and by the same officials as in past years."

"I have made modifications in present law only in areas concerning primary financing and procedures for qualifying for the ballot. These are procedures that were directly affected by the court order in Johnston v. Bullock."

"What I have done in these instructions is to provide rules setting out what expenses will be paid by my office and how the expense vouchers should be submitted to my office for payment."

Bullock said that his office would require of county party officials a complete and accurate audit of all funds expended in the conduct of the primary.

The following necessary expenses of the primary will be paid by the Secretary of State:

1. Printing of ballots
2. Renting of polling places where necessary
3. Compensation of election judges and clerks
4. Stationery, postage, forms and other printing expenses.

The following expenses shall be paid by the county committee from the funds derived from the payment of filing fees:

Hazardous Voyage To Probe Majestic Planet Jupiter, Moons

By Peter Moseley
Reuter Correspondent

HOUSTON

An unmanned probe will be hurled out from earth soon, faster than any spacecraft has ever flown, at the start of a hazardous voyage to the seething majestic planet Jupiter.

A "first" in almost every aspect, the two-year mission of space probe "Pioneer F" makes Mariner 9's trip to Mars last year look like a weekend jaunt.

It will travel more than eight times as far from the earth as Mars, covering over 500 million miles before nearing Jupiter, by far the biggest planet in our solar system. Then the tiny spacecraft will voyage on out into interstellar space -- the first man-made object ever to leave the confines of this space of planets in the Milky Way.

But before getting to Jupiter, it must pass through the uncharted hazards of the belt of asteroids that lies beyond Mars.

Launch is set for any time between Feb. 27 and March 13. The National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA) says it will aim for the earliest launch the weather permits, as this will shorten the journey to about 22 months. A late launch could mean a 900-day trip as Jupiter will be moving further away on its huge oval orbit of the sun.

Pioneer F will be launched by a three-stage rocket, a new combination of Atlas-Centaur with a solid fuel third stage that will kick its speed to about 32,000 M.P.H.

PAST THE MOON

This will take it past the orbit of the moon in just 11 hours, compared with the three days it takes the Apollo missions to get there.

"It's the fastest thing that's ever flown," a NASA spokesman said. About 13 months later, Pioneer G will be launched to complete the dual mission to Jupiter.

Scientists believe the planet may be undergoing the same sort of chemical reactions thought to have preceded the appearance of life on earth.

"It may be that Jupiter has not quite finished falling together into a rigid planet," says Dr. Robert Willey, of the U. S. Geological Survey Center of Astrogeology.

"Jupiter is the king of the planets," observes Robert S. Kraemer, director of planetary programs in NASA's office of space science. "It could make up the rest of the planets and there'd still be half of Jupiter left."

The planet resembles the sun more than the earth. Although 1,000 times bigger than earth, it rotates more than twice as quickly, in about 10 hours. This is faster than any other planet in the solar system.

GREAT RED SPOT

Light and dark bands, sometimes tinted red or blue

but usually gray, ring the golden disc of Jupiter and a great current sweeps around the equator floating deep in the atmosphere is a mysterious "great red spot" which is of major scientific interest.

Clouds conceal the surface of the planet -- if it has a surface -- giving Jupiter a constantly changing appearance. Studies from earth indicate the atmosphere is mostly hydrogen, with some helium, water vapor, ammonia and methane.

One reason the scientists believe Jupiter may be mostly gases at present is the fact that its mass, although 300 times that of the earth, is still less than one third what it should be to judge by its physical size. Its average density seems to be only slightly greater than water.

Another major puzzle is why the planet radiates three times more energy than it receives from the sun. Scientists have detected bursts of radio noise that sometimes equal the energy of several hydrogen bombs.

BELTS OF RADIATION

And Jupiter is believed to have surrounding belts of radiation like those around the earth that were located by pioneer's early predecessors 12 years ago.

Among its 13 experiments, the 560-pound Pioneer F will carry instruments to detect this radiation, as well as the composition of Jupiter's atmosphere, as it flies past Jupiter at a distance of 100,000 miles within the orbit of the planet's dozen moons.

A telescope called an imaging photo-polarimeter will be pointed at one or more of these moons, as well as at the planet itself, to provide photographs.

The spacecraft, powered by four radioisotope thermoelectric generators because solar energy is too weak beyond Mars, will take four months to reach the asteroid belt. This is believed to be the debris of a planet that once orbited between Mars and Jupiter before collapsing for unknown reasons.

FRAGMENTS DANGEROUS

Even the smallest fragment of rock could end Pioneer's 100 million dollar mission as it streaks through this interplanetary minefield, the first spacecraft to enter the region. It will take six months to pass through the asteroid belt.

"We think it can get through without damage," says Robert S. Kraemer, "but we are not sure."

"Then we have the radiation belt hazard around Jupiter."

"We don't think it's going to be a suicidal flight, but the spacecraft may be hurt by the time it gets close to Jupiter."

The spacecraft, built by the T.R.W. Systems Group of Redondo Beach, Calif., had been designed with plenty of "redundancy" which means that no single component failure should be catastrophic to the mission.

RUBBLE will be changed to a beauty spot when the downtown mall - parking area is completed in this block, along with a fountain and other features.

The Industrial Seminar...

Wednesday's industrial seminar in Cameron was an eye opener on the additional possibilities for future development and Cameron and county.

Experts in planning, finance, tourist development and highway construction told it "like it is", in a more sophisticated projection of community need than the "town meetings" of the mid-60s which contributed so much to progress here.

Cameron leadership continues in the modern way. There is much residents, old and new, can anticipate that makes sense and for more pleasant working and living when these seminars are well attended and presented by men expert in their fields.

Off 'Dead Center'

We congratulate County Commissioners Court for voting itself off "dead center" and enabling prospects for city, county and school district like Central Texas district programs which are channeled through a planning district like Central Texas Council of Governments.

The vote was for a year in the Bell County - based Council. The time was drawing near when commitments for planning or funding would be affected by membership.

Arguments for going this way or that could be forwarded and a substantial relationship exists between Bell County and Milam County. They are contiguous counties, for one obvious reason.

Point is a three-year period of indecision was about to affect planning in several government entities of Milam County. For a year, things can progress on a timetable. It is time enough to see the effectiveness of CTCOG, which made a number of presentations for Milam's joining.

BLAMES CONGRESS FOR HUGE BUDGET DEFICIT

REP. SAMUEL L. DEVINE (Ohio) "... It is with some chagrin that I stand here in the House today and listen to some of my colleagues. ... deplore the fact that an announcement has been made that there may be a deficit of $40 billion in this fiscal year.

"You know, it is interesting that many of the people who deplore these deficits that occur from time to time are the very people who have never voted against a spending bill in the whole history of the Congress.

"LET US PUT THE SADDLE JUST EXACTLY WHERE IT BELONGS. The President of the United States cannot authorize expenditures. The President of the United States cannot appropriate expenditures. The people who spend the money and create the deficits are the people in the Congress of the United States. ..."

REP. CHARLES A. VANIK (Ohio) "... The cause and effect of this deficit should constitute the principle business of this second session of the 92nd Congress. ... Otherwise we are on a jet trip to fiscal disaster which should frighten every American. ..."

REP. E.A. CEDERBERG (Mich.) "... We in the Appropriations Committee will do our very best to reduce the budget, but when it gets to the floor there are going to be amendments after amendments offered to increase the amounts, and the same gentlemen who have been here pleading for fiscal responsibility will be those who will be for full funding of every program as it comes down the pike. ..."

Dear Sir:

I am a Senior at Holland High School and I am doing a research paper on Benjamin F. Bryant. It is to believe that is a great uncle to me somewhere along our family.

What I would like to know is where you collected the information on him to write an article? We also have a letter written to him by Sam Houston, but it is not the same. It seems to be hard to get enough information on him to make a really good research paper.

I would be grateful if you could refer me to some sources so I might finish my paper.

New Guidelines Due For State's Primary Elections

By Bill Boykin

New guidelines for conduct of the state's first publicly - financed primary elections are due to reach local election officials this week.

Secretary of State Bob Bullock, as chief Texas election officer, drafted the rules in line with a federal court amendment to the decision outlawing filing fees as proposed in a 1971 law.

Bullock interpreted the latest order as authorizing the state to foot the bill for primary election costs. He said an earlier opinion permitted use of nominal filing fees to regulate length of the ballot but not as a revenue - raising device placing a wealth requirement on candidacy.

The chief election officer ordered this mandatory filing fee schedule for both Democratic and Republican candidates (or an alternative nominating petition signed by qualified voters):

Statewide offices, $400; U. S. representative, $300; state senator, $150; state representative, $100; chief justice or associate justice, court of civil appeals, $100; member state board of education, $50; district judge or judge of any court having district office status, $100; district attorney or criminal district attorney, $100; all county offices except county surveyor or inspector of hides and animals, $100; inspector of hides and animals, $50; county commissioner, $50; justice of the peace or constable for counties above 200,000 population, $50; justice of the peace or constable for counties under 200,000, $25; all party offices, no fee.

Fees must be paid in full by February 28. In lieu of filing fees, candidates may elect to file petitions by a March 6 deadline. For statewide offices, 2,500 signatures urging candidacy must be equal in number to at least two per cent of the entire vote cast for a party's gubernatorial candidate in the last general election for the territory served -- or at least 25 and no more than 300 signers.

State Comptroller Robert S. Calvert has stated he will ask an attorney general's opinion on legality of Bullock's proposal to finance May and June primaries with funds transferred from another state appropriation. Gov. Preston Smith applauded the plan and said he will direct the necessary transfer.

ALLOWABLE GOES UP

The February oil allowable has been pushed up another 4.1 per cent in answer to demands for more production.

Texas Railroad Commission set the allowable at 75.8 per cent the following week after announcing it would be 71.9 per cent.

Chairman Byron Tunnell said several Texas refineries insisted they could not get enough crude oil to meet demands for February if the allowable were set at the 71.7 per cent factor.

The allowable has been raised for three straight months, and the new, adjusted February mark is the highest since a 77.2 per cent factor last May.

Tunnell said requests amount to a firm demand for an additional 76,000 barrels of crude oil a day for the month. The new allowable will permit an extra 75,717 barrels a day.

Texas crude stocks January 21 came to 90,994,000 barrels, down 18.3 million from the same time in 1971.

WATER BONDS SOLD

Texas Water Development Board sold $25 million in water development bonds at an effective interest rate of 4.6831.

A syndicate headed by First National Bank of Dallas made the purchase.

Sale of the bonds increased the Board's statutory lending rate from 3.77207 per cent to 3.95873 per cent. Thus, Governmental units borrowing money from the Board for water supply project construction will pay a higher interest rate for their loan.

Bidding was close on the sale. Six bids overall were received.

COLORADO BASIN

A water quality cleanup plan for the Colorado River Basin must be completed by local, state and federal authorities by July, 1973, to meet a federal requirement for loans.

Cities of Odessa, Midland, Big Spring, San Angelo, Brownwood and Austin may be affected by the decision for years to come. A U.S. House resolution directed federal engineers to review reports on the Colorado and tributaries and compile the study of a 54-county basin including 890 river miles.

Efforts will be made to define areas generating most pollutants and to propose basinwide approaches to correcting problems.

COURTS SPEAK

Policemen relying on first-time informers for information should have to identify them sufficiently to prove reliability before search warrants are issued, the Court of Criminal Appeals held.

Texas Supreme Court admitted that fine print technicalities in an insurance policy caused an apparent injustice, but concluded that changes should be made by the Insurance Board or legislature rather than judges.

A faulty search warrant based on hearsay resulted in reversal by the Court of Criminal Appeals of a four-year sentence of a former University of Texas professor on marijuana possession charges.

SINGLE MEMBER

Atty. Gen. Crawford C. Martin strongly criticized a January 28 federal court ruling ordering single-member districts for Bexar and Dallas Counties.

Martin contends the decision is wrong and that the U. S. Supreme Court may reverse it on appeal.

Meanwhile, he asked the highest court to delay effect of the order for 1972 elections. If it is made effective immediately, Martin contended, re - registration may be necessary for 400,000 Dallas and 224,000 Bexar County voters in line with altered voting precinct lines.

The three-judge federal court ordered 11 individual House districts in Bexar and 18 such districts of about 74,000 each of Dallas. Other districts drawn by a state legislative redistricting board last October were left intact, for this year's voting, although the legislature was directed to redraw all of them by July 1, 1973.

ANTI-INCOME TAX

An anti-income tax group of prominent Texans Wednesday announced plans to push for state governmental economies to head off "substantial new taxes" this year.

Old Man's Will

Harvey was dismayed to learn, when his father's will was read, that he had been left out altogether. In short order, he challenged the will in court.

"My father was past 90 when he signed this document," Harvey pointed out. "He was slovenly in his personal habits. He was getting forgetful. And he was totally blind. In such a condition he was certainly not competent to make a will."

However, the court held the will valid. The judge said advanced age, even though accompanied by assorted frailties, does not automatically mean a person is incompetent to make a will.

On the contrary, the law has shown a special tenderness for wills made by the elderly. One judge's explanation has often been quoted:

"It is one of the painful consequences of extreme old age that it ceases to excite interest, and is apt to be left solitary and neglected. The control which the law still gives to a man over the disposal of his property is one of the most efficient means which he has, in protracted life, to command attention."

Of course, old age may indeed be accompanied by real incompetence. In another case, the will of an 86-year-old woman was thrown out because in her declining years she had been unable even to recognize friends and relatives. The court said a will she signed while so disabled did not truly reflect her "will" at all.

But in a close case, the law

Now understand I don't object to this tax, anymore than I object to any other tax, and after all land and other property can stand just so much tax and that point has already been reached and passed in most places, but the consumer ought to be entitled to some small break in this new tax proposal, and I have a suggestion.

If he's going to pay a Value-Added tax all the way from iron ore to the finished car, he ought to be entitled to a Value-Lowered Refund every time the finished car heads back down on its way to scrap metal.

Say you pay $3,500 for a new car and 4 years later when you trade it in on a new one the dealer looks in his book and says it's worth $500. Clearly you ought to be able to throw the Value-Added tax into reverse and collect a Value-Lowered Refund. The same would apply to refrigerators, television sets, tires, tractors, furniture, etc.

I hope you'll call this to the attention of Congress.

A dealer just offered me $75 for my old car, provided I'd bring it around to the back.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

THE FAMILY LAWYER

Old Man's Will

Harvey was dismayed to learn, when his father's will was read, that he had been left out altogether. In short order, he challenged the will in court.

"My father was past 90 when he signed this document," Harvey pointed out. "He was slovenly in his personal habits. He was getting forgetful. And he was totally blind. In such a condition he was certainly not competent to make a will."

However, the court held the will valid. The judge said advanced age, even though accompanied by assorted frailties, does not automatically mean a person is incompetent to make a will.

On the contrary, the law has shown a special tenderness for wills made by the elderly. One judge's explanation has often been quoted:

"It is one of the painful consequences of extreme old age that it ceases to excite interest, and is apt to be left solitary and neglected. The control which the law still gives to a man over the disposal of his property is one of the most efficient means which he has, in protracted life, to command attention."

Of course, old age may indeed be accompanied by real incompetence. In another case, the will of an 86-year-old woman was thrown out because in her declining years she had been unable even to recognize friends and relatives. The court said a will she signed while so disabled did not truly reflect her "will" at all.

But in a close case, the law gives a will the benefit of the doubt. This is not only a matter of concern for the elderly but of preference for wills as the best way to transfer property at time of death.

For if there is no will, all sorts of unpleasant things may befall the heirs. The most money may go to the least deserving. Taxes may be needlessly high. Costs of administration may be exorbitant. Family heirlooms may spark family feuds.

Accordingly, to the person who has grown old without having made a will, the law's advice is plain:

Better late than never.

Motorists Can Get New Plates By Mail

You don't have to stand in line anymore if you don't want to in order to register "Old Betsy" -- or whatever you call the faithful family car.

Texas motorists can get their 1972 license plates by mail if they send in the three - part renewal form, the registration fee and one dollar to their county tax officer prior to March 1.

This allows for the 30 days that are necessary for the application to be processed and the license plates delivered before the April 1 deadline. The plates themselves became available at the tax office or sub-station February 1.

If the motorist prefers, he may register his vehicle in person by taking the handy three - part form to the county tax office. It takes the clerk only a fraction of the time it used to take to process the form.

THE INFORMED CONSUMER

BY CRAWFORD C. MARTIN
Attorney General of Texas

successful franchising operation, you have a better opportunity to succeed in your business. Occasionally, a dishonest promoter will use a franchise name and trademark deceptively similar to that of a well-known franchisor. Be skeptical of franchisors whose major activity is selling franchises and whose profit is primarily derived from these sales or from the sale of franchise equipment. Remember, the more information you learn about the franchisor and the successes or failures of individuals who have purchased his franchises, the better prepared you will become to make an intelligent decision. Second, you should determine the length of time the product has been on the market and whether it has enjoyed successful promotion during this time. In short, is it a proven product or service or just a gimmick? Ask yourself whether or not you are really interested in selling the product or service, what the future demand will be, and the nature of the competition you must face in marketing the product. Third, what is the cost of the franchise? In addition to the initial cash outlay required, there may be other charges, assessments, or royalties to be paid to the franchisor, and you may be required to purchase supplies from the company rather than from local sources. Fourth, what profits can reasonably be expected from the franchise operation? Here again, private investigation on your part by talking with present franchise owners may provide facts you will need to make an intelligent decision. In any event, the representations of a promoter concerning projected net profits or earnings potential should be carefully examined for accuracy. Fifth, what training and management assistance will be provided by the franchisor? It is very important that you clearly understand the specific nature of the training to be provided. Will it consist only of receiving a manual of instructions or hearing a few lectures? You must determine whether or not after taking the training offered you will be able to operate the franchise successfully. Sixth, what are your rights and obligations under the terms of the franchise agreement contract? Contact your attorney and listen to his explanation of the terms and conditions of the contract. Compare this with the representations made to you by the promoter selling the franchise.

In summary, you should not rush into signing a contract or any other document relating to a franchise promotion, and you should not make any deposits or down payments "to hold a franchise open" or to "demonstrate good faith" unless you are absolutely certain about your decision to go ahead with the franchise arrangement.

Cotton Meeting Set For Feb. 15

By Bill McCutcheon

There is a lot of interesting cotton production for the 1972 crop year, with things looking up insofar as the cotton market is concerned. Many farmers gave up on cotton in recent years as a lot of trouble and a bad bet, but those who stuck with cotton production are beginning to harvest rewards for their diligence.

Even with things on the upswing there is still a real cost-price squeeze in producing cotton. It takes more management than ever to make a profit from cotton, and the 1972 Milam County Cotton Meeting will be geared to bring producers up to date in management practices.

The 1972 Milam County Cotton Meeting will be February 15th at 7:30 p.m. in the Vocational Agriculture Classroom in Cameron. The program will be presented by Fred Elliott, Cotton Specialist; Beverly Reeves, Cotton Ginning and Mechanization Specialist; and Dr. Clifford E. Hoelscher, Entomologist; all with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

The program will include information on cotton varieties, equipment, insect and weed control and other timely topics.

All persons interested in any phase of cotton production are welcomed to attend.

4-H NEWS

The Milam County 4-H Council met in the First National Bank civic room, and special reports were given on the Christmas party by Ricky Richter.

Deborah Stevens gave a report on the concession stand and on the district meeting she attended.

Members were reminded of important dates, March 18 for county contests and food show; district live-stock, dairy and poultry contests April 8 at Texas A&M.

Rural Life Day will be Sunday, May 7; record books are due June 30.

A nominating committee was appointed including Paula Fleming, Ricky Richter, Daniel Richardson, Rufus Lamere, Deborah Stevens. Elections will be in March.

BIG MEETING

February 15th is the date for the Eleventh Annual BIG Area Meeting.

Activities get underway promptly at 9:30 a.m. and wind up with a "Dutch Treat" lunch at 12:30 p.m. Featured during this time span will be an outstanding panel of producers, including Gene Klein of Milam County, who will address their remarks to the important topics of agricultural economics, production and marketing in the Blackland area of Texas.

At 12 noon the Second Annual Mid-Tex Farm and Ranch Show opens its doors directly across the street from the BIG Assembly.

Other portions of the BIG Program that will be of special interest include an address by Dr. Tyrus Timm on Blackland economics; and J. Dukes Wooters, Jr. on marketing.

This program will be held at the Heart of Texas Fair grounds in Waco.

It takes more than optimism!

The farmer/rancher is an eternal optimist. He must be—to contend with such imponderables as weather, prices and costs.

Yet, it takes more than optimism in today's high cost agriculture. It takes an organization the farmer/rancher knows he can count on. Farm Bureau is such an organization. That's why four out of five farmers in the nation are members of Farm Bureau.

Farm Bureau works for agriculture on three broad fronts—

1. TO INCREASE ECONOMIC OPPORTUNITY—Through effectiveness in Public Affairs (policy development & legislative activities)
2. TO STRENGTHEN FARMERS' COMPETITIVE POSITION IN MARKETPLACE—Through marketing programs, commodity activities, market expansion
3. TO CONTROL PRODUCTION COSTS—Through group purchasing (tires & batteries), insurance protection (fire, life & casualty), group insurance (medical care)

House Committee OKs Rural Development Bill

WASHINGTON

The House Committee on Agriculture tentatively approved today Rural Development legislation designed to improve the standard of living of millions of families throughout America on farms and in the smaller towns and communities.

After revising a bill (H. R. 10867) which had been under study for months, the Committee instructed Chairman W. R. (Bob) Poage, D-Tex., to introduce a new measure incorporating all the changes which had been made in the earlier version. Many members, both Democrats and Republicans, joined with Poage in sponsoring the new bill.

In its tentative action today the Committee by a 16 to 4 vote rejected the revenue-sharing principle which the Administration had urged be incorporated into any Rural Development bill, and by a 16 to 5 vote rejected a credit-sharing plan which had been recommended to the Committee yesterday by Secretary of Agriculture Earl Butz. The revised legislation is scheduled to come up before the Committee on next Wednesday, February 9, for a final vote.

Basically, the bill would broaden the credit services of the Farmers Home Administration (FHA), emphasize rural development, and give greater emphasis to community development and environmental aspects of the Small Watershed and Resource, Conservation and Development Programs of the U. S. Department of Agriculture. It also would authorize for the first time aid to finance pollution abatement and control programs in rural areas.

The Committee decided in the revised bill to place a ceiling on the amount of money authorized for grants in the various programs administered by the FHA. Earlier it had voted to lift any limitations in the amount of funds authorized to be appropriated for several existing grant programs and had included several new open-ended grant authorities, but in today's action it was decided to set fixed ceilings. These generally doubled the amount of money authorized for existing programs.

ASCS NEWS

Farmers may request farm measurement service at the Milam County ASCS Office when they come in to sign up in the feed grain, wheat or cotton set-aside programs, says Hugo Fuchs, Chairman of the County Agriculture Stabilization and Conservation Committee.

The ASCS measurement service is available at the nominal fee, Mr. Fuchs said, and offers farmers a convenient and economical way to make sure their acreages are in compliance with the farm programs they have signed up for.

Producers may request acreage measurement for any farm program purpose, but most of the requests come from farmers who want to be certain their acreages comply with program regulations under the feed grain, wheat or cotton programs.

Each producer determines which acreages he will need measured. Some cotton producers prefer to have an exact measurement of their acreage, since full set-aside payments may be earned only if at least 90 percent of the farm allotment is planted. Sometimes, feed grain and wheat program participants want their acreage measured to make certain they have planted enough crops to maintain their base or allotment history.

"Many participants in the set-aside programs feel measurement is especially valuable in order to be guaranteed compliance with the set-aside acreage requirements," Mr. Fuchs said. When a farmer goes by measurement service from his County ASCS office, he is guaranteed he has met the set-aside acreage requirements of the farm programs he has signed for.

Sign-up in the 1972 set-aside programs is scheduled February 3 through March 10. Participating farmers will certify at a later date to the set-aside acreage on their farms and list the acreage planted to program crops.

On-farm spot checks will be made at random on farms in the county. Errors in farmer certification can result in reduction or loss of set-aside payments.

On introducing the bill originally, Poage called on his urban district colleagues for support, pointing out that the proposals should slow down or halt the migration of farm families to the cities, where so many have been forced on to relief rolls to survive.

"The time has come for this House to recognize that poverty is not confined to the big city, that America's countryside is in economic chaos, and that problems in our urban areas are linked directly to the suffering in our rural areas," Poage said.

"We cannot separate the problem between rural and urban America -- there is no dividing line."

Investment Tax Credit Restored

COLLEGE STATION

Investment tax credit is back. Farmers, ranchers, and businessmen can claim a seven percent investment tax credit on their 1971 tax returns for qualifying property. Such property must have been ordered and acquired after March 31, 1971, or acquired after August 15, regardless of when ordered, explains Dr. James I. Mallett, economist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Investment credit also applies to property where construction or reconstruction was begun after March 31 or was completed after August 15, regardless of when begun. If construction was begun before April 1, only costs attributed to the period after August 15 apply, explains Mallett.

Investment credit must be taken the year the property is placed in service and cannot exceed your tax liability, says the economist. If the tax liability is greater than $25,000, the limit is $25,000 plus one half of the tax liability in excess of $25,000. Unused credits can be carried back three years and then forward seven years.

The amount of investment credit on each asset depends on its useful life. This must be the same for computing both investment credit and depreciation. One-third of the investment qualifies for tax credit if the useful life is three years but less than five; two-thirds, if five years but less than seven; and 100 percent, if seven years or more.

There is a $50,000 limitation on investments in used property eligible for credit.

Property qualifying for investment tax credit must be depreciable, points out Mallett. It includes tangible personal business property such as machinery, office equipment, trucks, autos and, for the first time, livestock (except horses), elevators and escalators. Tangible real property tied closely to production is also included, such as fences, silos, grain bins, hay barns and fuel storage tanks. Buildings not used strictly for storage do not qualify.

Tax laws prevent the creation of artificial credits by disposing of raised or non-recapture depreciable livestock and then acquiring substantially similar livestock. The cost of substantially identical livestock acquired within one year beginning six months before the original livestock was sold is reduced by the sale value.

The business percentage of property used for both business and personal purposes is also eligible for investment credit, adds Mallett.

Foreign-made equipment is not eligible for tax credit unless it was ordered between April 1 and August 15 last year. This includes all property completed outside the United States and property completed in this country if less than 50 percent of the cost is attributable to value added inside the U.S.

The economist explains that if investment credit property is disposed earlier than its estimated life, the credit must be recomputed. Any credit for which the actual holding period does not qualify must be paid back.

Meeting Outlines Provisions For Trailer Brakes, Lights

Rep. Dan Kubiak reported a "very successful meeting" in Rockdale on the trailer brake and light provisions of the "Rules of the Road" legislation. He said several significant points were brought out:

1. All farm trailers grossing less than 10,000 pounds are exempt from the brake provisions of the law. Horse trailers are classified as farm trailers.
2. Cotton trailers grossing less than 15,000 pounds are also exempt from the braking provision.
3. The 40 percent braking requirement will be totally waived by the Department of Public Safety.
4. Licenses are not required for farm trailers grossing less than 4,000 pounds, but are needed if the trailers gross from 4,000 to 10,000 pounds.
5. Surge brakes are legal on all trailers, under the recent opinion of the Attorney General.
6. Farm trailers which are not used at night are not required to have lights. However, lighting requirements are based on the overall width of the trailer. For those under 80 inches overall width, a combination tail light and stop light are needed on the right and left rear of the trailer. Two reflectors are also needed.

Milam Farm Bureau Sets Membership Drive This Month

The Milam County Farm Bureau is conducting a county wide drive for members Feb. 14 through Feb. 18. Dues are paid on an annual basis, so the Farm Bureau must go back to each member once a year for renewal of its program.

Today's farmers and ranchers are the producing marvels of the world," a Farm Bureau spokesman said. "As agriculture becomes more and more efficient, fewer and fewer producers are needed to grow our food and fiber."

This efficiency means that more people are free to work in other industries to create the wealth of goods and services that go to make up our high standard of living, the spokesman continued, and that less of the family's take home pay is needed to buy groceries.

"What it has also meant to producers is overproduction. Because of this, prices from farm products have not risen nearly as much as prices farmers must pay for production and family living items.

"Agricultural producers today represent only about five percent of the total population of this country. If farmers and ranchers are ever to have any clout in the market place and in places where laws are made affecting their industry, they are going to have to get organized. This is no time for rugged individualism on the farm. It is the time for participation in a responsible organization."

Consumer Price Index Rises 0.4 Percent In Dec.

WASHINGTON

The Consumer Price Index rose 0.4 percent in December, the U.S. Department of Labor's Bureau of Labor Statistics reported. Almost two-thirds of the rise was due to higher prices for food, particularly fresh vegetables which are exempt from the Economic Stabilization Program. The December index was 123.1, 3.4 percent above a year ago, the smallest December-to-December increase in 4 years.

The increase in December after seasonal adjustment was also 0.4 percent. In the 4 months after the stabilization program was announced, the CPI rose at a seasonally adjusted annual rate of 2.4 percent. During the 6 months from March to August, the period immediately preceding the price freeze, the annual rate of increase was 4.1 percent.

The December advance of 0.4 percent compares with an average seasonally adjusted monthly increase of a little more than 0.1 percent in the period from August to November, which corresponds roughly to Phase I of the Economic Stabilization Program, and an average monthly rate of 0.3 percent in the 6 months preceding the program.

After seasonal adjustment, the food price index rose 0.7 percent in December, the same as in November. The index for nonfood commodities, which showed no change from August to November, rose 0.3 percent. The index for services rose 0.3 percent, the same as in November.

The index for food purchased in grocery stores rose 1.3 percent in December, more than twice as much as it usually does at this time of the year. Prices of raw farm products which are exempt from regulation accounted for about 85 percent of the rise.

Fresh vegetables prices advanced considerably more than seasonally. Fresh fruit prices declined but not as much as usual. The increase in egg prices was smaller than usual for December. Beef and pork prices rose contraseasonally, and prices of dairy products increased slightly. Prices of cereal and bakery products continued to decline.

The index of restaurant meals and snacks increased 0.1 percent, much less than earlier in 1971.

The nonfood commodities index was unchanged in December instead of declining as it usually does. New car prices rose 0.7 percent. Price indexes also increased for gasoline, reading materials, and a few other items. The effects of these increases were offset by a sharp decline in used car prices and smaller decreases for tires, apparel, some toilet goods, and over-the-counter drug items.

Higher charges for household services accounted for almost three-fourths of the rise in the index for services. The rent index increased 0.3 percent, about the same as in recent months. Charges for gas and electricity rose sharply due to widespread rate increases and adjustments for higher fuel costs. Telephone rates also increased. Property taxes continued to rise, but mortgage interest costs held steady. Fares were slightly higher for all forms of public transportation except airplanes. The medical care services index rose more than in November.

For Club

Mrs. Milton Schiller was hostess for the January 27 meeting of the Pleasure and Profit Club. After serving refreshments of party sandwiches, olives and hot Dr. Pepper, a business session was held.

Club members nominated and elected an individual as the club's nominee to receive the McCullin Award. A committee was named to gather and present information concerning the individual's qualifications.

After the business meeting Mrs. Schiller reviewed the book, "Don't Fall Off the Mountain." In this autobiography Shirley McLane's early life in Virginia is described. She also made many tours to other countries to learn of other cultures. Especially mentioned were her travels in India.

The meeting was adjourned with Mrs. Virginia Schuhsler leading the club Collect.

Author, World Traveler To Speak At League Luncheon

Helen Poe, lecturer, reviewer, traveler and author, will be featured speaker for the Arts and Service League spring luncheon "Passport to Pleasure."

The luncheon, which will be open to the public, is scheduled for Wednesday, March 1 at the Methodist Fellowship Hall. Tickets are on sale from League members or may be purchased at Bernice's in Cameron. Mrs. Ed Magre, chairman of the luncheon has announced that proceeds from the $2.50 luncheon tickets will be given to the Cameron Day Care Center.

Miss Poe, co-founder of the Poe-Broad Travel Agency in Dallas, is a graduate of Southern Methodist University. She furthered her studies at Columbia University and the Juilliard School of Music. With her travel agency partner, Mary Broad, she has co-authored a cook book and a popular book on their travel experiences behind the Iron Curtain, "Never Take Nyet For An Answer."

Miss Poe's penetrating observations of people and places along with her versatility in literature and the arts, have given her a unique place on the lecture platform. In 1968 she was recognized by her Alma Mater for her services to youth, having spoken to more than a half-million school children on "Young America's Place in a Changing World."

Her travels have taken her behind the Iron Curtain on five trips into the USSR and its satellites and around the world five times. She has made thirty-eight trips to Europe and repeated trips to South America, the Caribbean Islands, Mexico and Canada.

She has been on safaris in Africa, traveled caravan routes to Petra, Palmyra and Kabul, and ridden camels, elephants and Arabian horses.

In her book "Never Take Nyet for an Answer" which is available at the Cameron Public Library, the ebullient Miss Poe proves more than a match for the ploys of petty bureaucracy, the rigors of "hard class" on the Trans-Siberian Railroad, and all the improbably mishaps that face tourists who venture from the standard tourist routes.

Looking back on her travels to Russia, Miss Poe said "we communicated with our fluent vocabulary of six words, da, nyet, spasibo, spajalistay, kluch and bodka. We discovered 'peaceful coexistence' with four Russians in a 'hard-class' compartment, 5 feet by 7 feet, on a Trans-Siberian train. We had terrific rapport through the use of pantomime and sign language with Soviet citizens whom we met on the decks of a Volga steamer, a bus to Kiev, on the streets of Kalinin and Novgorod, and the road to Tashkent and Samarkand."

Her wit and understanding are not limited to her travels. Speaking on world events she remarked "Yesterday, everything was a 'crisis.' Today, it is a confrontation." "Like cars and clothes," Miss Poe said, "Our vocabulary changes. In the mid-1950's the over-used words were 'motivation, proletariat, Iron Curtain, card-carrying communist, McCarthyism, Stalinism, liquidate and sputnik. Although the words have changed, the situations to which they applied are no different. There were crises in Viet Nam, Korea

Get Fancy - Use
A Cooking Board

AUSTIN

If you're one of those folks who think that the only way to cook fish is in a cast iron skillet with a side order of hush puppies, don't read any further.

But if you've discovered what a versatile food fish can be, you might be interested in hearing about the cooking board.

A cooking board is an item which can be bought at many gourmet stores. It can be used to cook fish or meat in the oven and also doubles as a serving platter.

Best of all, the board imparts a slightly smokey flavor to the food cooked on it.

The following recipe can be cooked in a bake-and-serve platter, but a cooking board will improve things tastewise and will be more aesthetically pleasing.

After the fish is cooked, arrange the rest of your menu on the platter for a colorful and nutritious meal.

Longhorn Sports Network Formed

A spokesman for the Longhorn Sports Network has announced the formation of a 15 to 20 station network for the purpose of carrying University of Texas Baseball this spring. The spokesman, President Jim Colley, said, "We hope to have over 20 participating stations by the start of the season, February 25."

Texas will play 42 games this year and the network will carry all games at home and away.

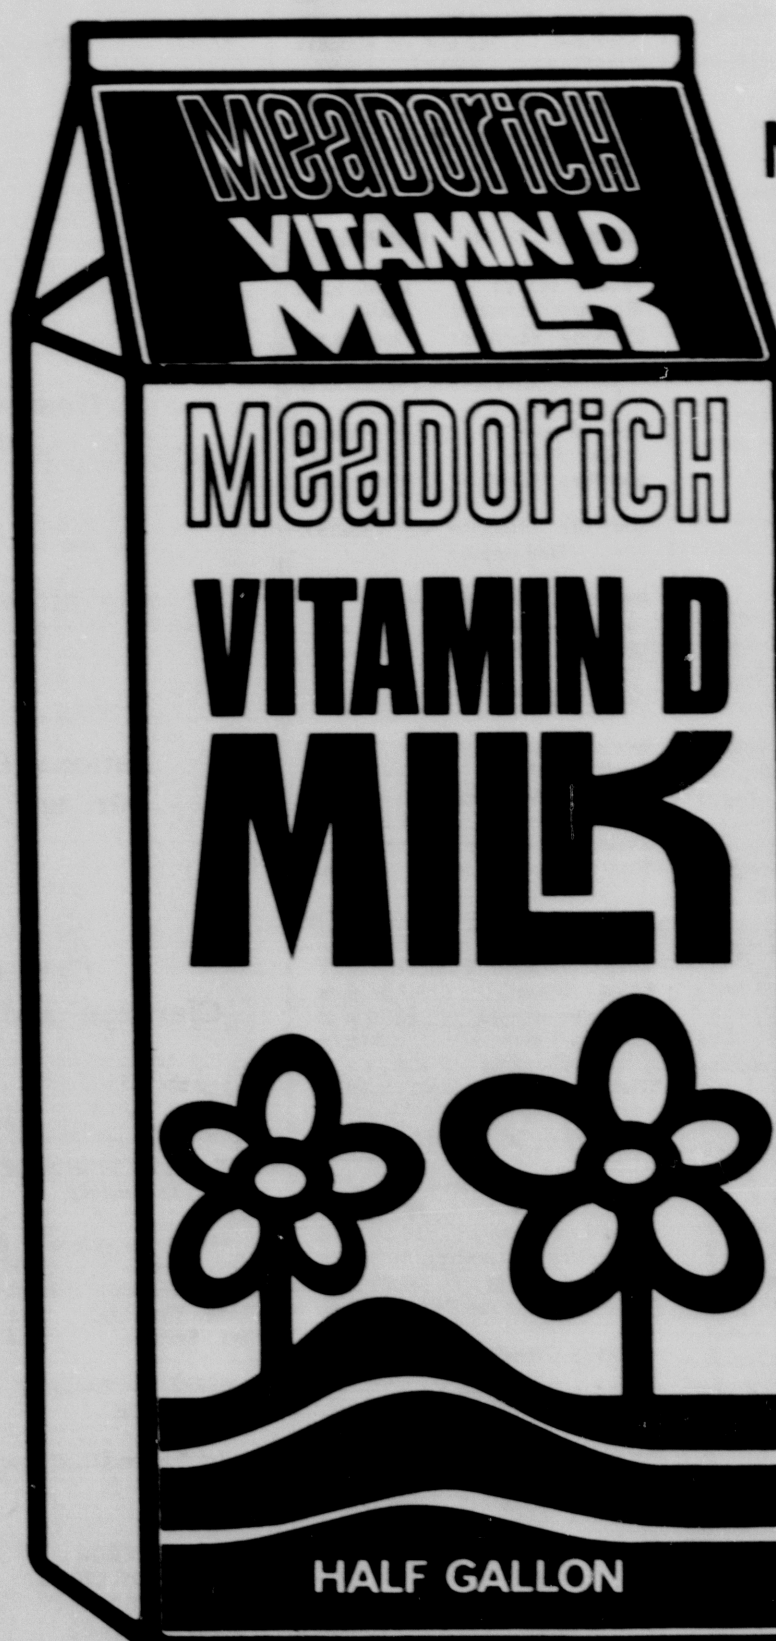

The Longhorns have won three Southwest Conference championships in the three years under Coach Cliff Gustafson. In those three years Texas has been in the College World Series twice.

The Longhorn Sports Network will also make available to its member stations the Cliff Gustafson Baseball Show, the baseball playoffs and World Series in the event Texas continues to win, and the Annual Orange and White Game (football).

Colley explained the network this way, "We will offer for a minimal cost - they in turn can sell the games to sponsors in their communities. The Gustafson Show, baseball playoffs and the Orange and White game will be bonus attractions."

The first game will feature Texas vs. Sam Houston State starting at 1 p.m. February 25.

Economic Stabilization

Questions and Answers

This column of questions and answers on Federal tax matters is provided by the U.S. Internal Revenue Service and is published as a public service to taxpayers. The column answers questions most frequently asked by taxpayers.

Q - I'm a working mother. What are the limits on the deduction my husband and I may claim for babysitting expenses incurred while I am working?

A - The child care deduction for tax year 1971 is limited to the amount you actually spent, but in no case more than $600 for one dependent or $900 for two or more. Although there are no income limitations on the amount a single woman may earn and still be able to claim a child care deduction, a working wife generally must reduce such expenses by the amount the adjusted gross income of her and her husband exceeds $6,000. Thus, no child care deduction may be allowed if the parents' combined adjusted gross income is $6,900 or more. The rules for claiming the deduction are explained in Publication 503, "Child Care and Dependent Care," available free from IRS offices.

The Revenue Act of 1971 increased the income limitation to $18,000 for tax year 1972, so if you do not qualify for the child care deduction when you file this year, you should still maintain good records of your child care expenses, because you may qualify when you file next year.

Q - Where can I get information on tax law changes affecting my 1971 return?

A - Internal Revenue Publication 17, "Your Federal Income Tax," describes in easy-to-read language many of the tax law changes affecting your 1971 return. It can be purchased for 75 cents from your IRS distribut office, many post offices throughout the country and the Government Printing Office in Washington, D. C.

Q - What happened to the income tax surcharge?

A - The surcharge was eliminated for tax years beginning in 1971.

Q - Is it true that the Internal Revenue Service will compute my retirement income credit for me?

A - If you qualify to have the IRS compute your tax and choose to do so, the IRS will also figure your retirement income credit. You merely need to answer the question for Columns A and B and fill in lines 2 and 5 of Schedule R. Attach Schedule R to your Form 1040, enter "RIC" on line 20 of Form 1040 and mail to the Internal Revenue Service Center, 3651 South Interregional Highway, Austin, Texas 78741.

Q - What taxes can I deduct on my return?

A - If you itemize deductions, then your state and local income taxes, personal property, real estate, general sales and state and local gasoline taxes may be deducted. You may also deduct the sales tax paid on the purchase of an automobile, boat, trailer and airplane. List these on Schedule A of your return. You can use the sales and gasoline tax tables in your tax form instructions to determine your deductions for these taxes.

Federal taxes such as Social Security tax or those on alcohol or tobacco are not deductible. Hunting licenses, driver's license or auto inspection fees are also not deductible.

Q - I'll be filing an income tax return for the first time. Where can I get a Form 1040?

A - Call or stop in at your local IRS office. Tax forms are also available at many banks and post offices.

Q - I want to deduct the interest I paid on my department store charge account purchases, but all my statements show are the "finance charges." Is there any way I can figure out the interest?

A - The amount of the finance charges which constitutes interest can be deducted. Interest has been defined as money paid for the use of money. However, if the interest cannot be ascertained, a deduction for the lesser of six percent of the average unpaid monthly balance of your charge account or the total finance charge allocable to the year may be taken. IRS Publication 545, "Income Tax Deduction for Interest Expense," shows these methods of computing your interest deductions. It is available free from IRS offices.

Fire Pollution

An annual average of 160 cubic miles of smoke and 34 million tons of particulate matter are carried into the air from wild forest fires, which also destroy millions of dollars worth of timber. Decades ago, it was worse.

Greater use of wood resources allows a stretching of depletable resources.

Rep. Angly To Visit In Cameron

Rep. Maurice Angly of Austin, who filed last week as a candidate for State Treasurer in the Republican primary, will visit Cameron and Milam County on Tuesday, February 15, during a campaign swing through Central Texas.

Local Republican Party leaders will host a coffee and reception for Rep. Angly from 9 to 11 a.m. on Tuesday morning. It will be held in the office located between Drug Store and Mrs. Holder's income tax service office on Houston Street here in Cameron.

Milam County citizens are invited to come in and meet Rep. Angly and hear him discuss the issues in the campaign.

Angly, 31, is the first Republican to be elected from Travis County and has served that district in the House of Representatives since 1967. As a candidate for State Treasurer, he is seeking the office now held by Jesse James, the Democrat incumbent. James filed for his 16th term in the post last week.

Rep. Angly said he reached his decision to run for the office after seeing the way James had "mismanaged state funds," and charged he had lost Texas some 30 to 50 million dollars in interest during his tenure in office by placing funds in banks at low interest rates -- among them the now defunct Sharpstown State Bank in Houston.

Parks Joins Extension Service

Don Lee Parks has joined the staff of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service as area economist-manager. He will serve Extension District 10 and will be headquartered at the Texas A&M University Research Annex.

He replaces Robert Whitson who resigned several months ago to work on his PhD degree at Texas A&M University.

Parks will give special emphasis to interpretation and application of economic principles to increase the production efficiency of farms and ranches in the south central Texas area, said Dr. John E. Hutchison, Extension Service director, in announcing the appointment. He will also provide subject matter information to strengthen the educational programs of county Extension agents in both youth and adult work.

And now a word about H&R Block's competition.

Because we think our competition represents more of a threat to you than it does to us, we're going to help you sort them out.

Your Family

The greatest people in the world. Most of the time. Unfortunately, most of the time doesn't include income tax time. Because the last thing you need when you're doing your taxes is an aunt who took an accounting course just before she dropped out of college. Or a father who thinks how much money you make and what you do with it is something the rest of the family should know about.

Your Neighbors

You know the type. The mild-mannered shoe salesman next door who suddenly turns into a mathematical genius just about the time income tax is due. He knows all the angles. Some of which even the Internal Revenue Service doesn't know about yet. And he's willing to share them with you. "Just to be neighborly."

You

Your own worst enemy. All year long you can't balance your check book, but that doesn't stop you. Armed with your W-2's, a few reams of paper and a couple of gallons of coffee you bravely attack that stack of forms. You may be taking deductions you're not entitled to, and entitled to deductions you're not taking. So, should you be doing your own taxes?

Kelm Is Easter Seal Chairman

William Kelm will head the 1972 Easter Seal Appeal in Milam County, it was announced by Rodney D. Hargrave, Dallas, president of the Easter Seal Society for Crippled Children and Adults of Texas.

Residents of Milam County will receive the annual Easter Seal Appeal letters in the mail beginning February 28. The Easter Seal Appeal, conducted yearly to provide disabled persons and their families treatment and services, will continue through Easter Sunday, April 2.

Kelm is one of 223 men and women throughout Texas who are serving in this capacity. The cost of the statewide Easter Seal program is over one million dollars, financed mainly by the Easter Seal Appeal. Almost 90 percent of all funds raised by the Easter Seal Appeal remain in Texas to support the growing needs of the disabled in the State.

Second Home In New Role

Longer weekends and vacations, better highways, and increased population pressures are several reasons for the dramatic changes in the function of second homes.

What used to be considered a weekend cabin or a vacation home often serves now as a primary residence, with a smaller townhouse or apartment used as a weekday home.

Other second homes assume full-time duty after retirement, or are rented out when not occupied by the owner. Some features in traditional vacation homes continue to be a boon, easy care being one of the most important.

Rugged exterior and interior surfaces, long-lived floors and decks, and innovative outdoor amenities, all of western woods, add immeasurably to carefree enjoyment.

For a new 24-page richly illustrated "Second Homes" book, with drawings and floor plans of 18 designs and several options, send $1 to Western Wood Products Assn., Dept. 542P, Yeon Bldg., Portland, Or. 97204.

EASTER SEAL CHAIRMAN - Miss Phyllis George of Denton, Miss America of 1971, has been named Chairman of the 1972 Easter Seal Campaign in Texas. Miss George is pictured with six-year-old Jennifer Jones of Fort Worth, who has learned to walk at an Easter Seal rehabilitation center.

TP&L Outlines New Construction

Texas Power & Light Company will spend $111,500,000 for the construction of new facilities in 1972. T. L. Austin, Jr., TP&L president, announced.

The construction budget is the largest in the Company's 60-year history, and expenditures will allow TP&L to keep pace with the growing electrical demands of customers in its 51-county service area.

A major portion of the expense is involved in the construction of eight major generating units. When completed over the next several years, the new units will be capable of producing more than 5 million kilowatts of electric power.

One new unit is located on Tradinghouse Creek near Waco; two units near Tatum in Rusk County; two units near Fairfield in Freestone County; two units near Mount Pleasant in Titus County and a generating unit in Hood County. The Freestone County, Rusk County and Titus County units will be owned jointly by TP&L, Dallas Power & Light Company and Texas Electric Service Company.

In addition to its power plant construction, the Company will build or improve transmission lines, substations and distribution lines and service centers in various parts of its service area.

Austin noted that on a nationwide basis, total generating capacity of the electric utility industry in the United States in 1971 reached an estimated 389.4 - million kilowatts. This was an increase of 9.1 percent over the 1970 total of 356.8 - million kilowatts.

Liner Queen Elizabeth Presents Salvage Problem

By Johnathan Sharp
Reuter Correspondent

HONG KONG
The hulk of the liner Queen Elizabeth, which now lies half-submerged in Hong Kong harbor, is presenting officials with what could be the biggest salvage operation in maritime history.

Few people who have seen the ship, which is resting on its side on the seabed, believe that it can ever sail again.

There has been no word so far from the owners, Island Navigation Company, who brought the former British luxury liner to Hong Kong six months ago for conversion into a floating university.

Similarly the government, which holds responsibility for deciding whether the ship is a hazard to the hundreds of ships which use the harbor, has declined to comment on its final fate.

However shipping experts here feel that a decision to move the ship will have to be made soon. One reason is that the typhoon season is approaching and a full-scale typhoon could shift the hulk and turn it into a greater shipping hazard than it is now.

Moreover the ship is in the middle of a channel leading to a new container terminal which is due to go into operation next August.

Although there is plenty of room on either side of the ship, its presence in the middle of a busy shipping lane would, in the words of a marine department official, be "totally undesirable."

How the ship is going to be salvaged is still unknown. No full-scale survey of the ship has yet been made to determine how badly it is damaged below the waterline or how many of the bulkheads are intact.

The fire service made a brief survey as soon as the ship cooled down enough to allow anyone on board, but internal damage was so extensive that it was virtually impossible to move around inside the hull and the inspection could only be cursory.

One expert with 20 years experience in salvaging said moving the vessel would be "easily the biggest salvage operation in maritime history."

It was his opinion that no one salvage company in the world could tackle the job alone, and consortium of firms would have to get together to do it.

One potential difficulty stems from the fact that the ship is resting on mud which quickly seeps into the hull, adding thousands of tons of weight to the already huge hulk.

This problem was found with some ships which went aground during a ferocious typhoon last year, some of the ships are still stuck firmly on the seabed.

However salvage experts maintain that, given enough money, no salvage job is impossible. One Dutch company, Smit-Tak of Rotterdam, has shown enough interest to send an expert here to survey the possibilities of salvage.

If it is found that refloating the ship by orthodox methods is not feasible, then the ship could be cut up into chunks and hauled off to the nearby ship's graveyard -- aptly named junk bay.

One other problem would be very much in the minds of salvage companies -- pollution.

It is known that the Queen Elizabeth was carrying 3,000 tons of oil at the time of the fire, and although a small proportion of this may have burned off in the blaze, most of it is still in the ship.

So far no one has been able to penetrate down to the ship's engine room to find out whether the fuel tanks have been ruptured, there has been no serious leakage since the fire and the tanks may still be sound.

However, one mistake during cutting operations during cutting operations on the vessel could send oil spilling out of the ship into the harbor and on to nearby beaches -- probably resulting in huge fines for those responsible.

The government has appointed a full-scale marine court headed by a supreme court judge helped by experts from Hong Kong and Britain to investigate the fire.

The court's hearings are bound to be lengthy as it will take statements from all of the several hundred people who were aboard the ship at the time of the fire.

Presumably no action on the ship can be taken until the court has completed its enquiry, and probably only then will the final chapter of the Queen Elizabeth be told.

Hobby Asks Governor For Constitutional Convention

EL PASO
Bill Hobby, candidate for the Democratic nomination for Lieutenant Governor, urged in a telegram to the governor today that a special task force be established to lay the groundwork for a Constitutional Convention in 1974.

A long-time advocate of constitutional reform in Texas, Hobby said a staff should be appointed at the next special session of the Legislature to begin preparations for rewriting the state's antiquated charter.

In a telegram to Governor Preston Smith, Hobby said:

"In order to assure adequate time for staff work in studies necessary to support the proposed Constitutional Convention in 1974, I urge you to submit to the next special session of the Legislature the need for a task force to begin work before the next regular session."

"Texas' urgent need for a modern, workable constitution makes this an emergency matter warranting inclusion in your call."

Texasans will vote next November on an amendment calling for the Legislature to rewrite the Constitution. If the amendment passes, it will be necessary for a task force to do staff studies prior to the 1974 Constitutional Convention.

Hobby said the state's present Constitution lacks flexibility and keeps state government from being responsive to the needs of all Texans.

OLDEST BANKNOTE

MAIN SEAPORT
Shanghai, which President Nixon will visit in February, is China's main seaport and one of the largest ports in the world. Yet by 1905 silt had reduced Shanghai's channel to a depth of only 10 feet, and authorities then predicted the port's swift demise. Frequent dredging keeps it open.

Cultural Olympiad Adds Music, Drama To Games

By George Vine
Reuter Correspondent

MUNICH
The Olympic games in Munich later this year will not be confined entirely to athletic tests.

Running parallel to the sporting events in Munich and the sailing races in Kiel will be acultural Olympiad, organized by the West German Olympics Committee.

It is just as impressive in scale and scope as the Olympic program.

"Culture vultures" will be able to gorge themselves on a feast ranging from the grandest of all opera -- Milano's La Scala company doing "Aida" -- to the esoteric no drama of Japan.

Nor is the cultural calendar restricted to the two weeks from Aug. 26 to Sept. 10 when the elite of the sports world are competing. In order to accommodate thousands of artists, companies and groups from all over the world, the program begins in June with a guest performance of the Japanese Kabuki Theater ensemble from Tokyo in Munich's Gaertnerplatz Theater.

No gold or silver medals are being awarded for the best performances. Nonetheless the presence of so many of the world's leading musicians, singers, actors and dancers presents a rare opportunity for comparison.

La Scala, England's Sadlers Wells opera, the Royal Stockholm opera and the National opera of Sofia will be in town at the same time in the first week of September.

The world premier of "Sim Tjong" by the Korean composer Isang Yun is being given on Aug. 1 and the world premiere of Gerhard Wimberger's "The Rules of Life" on Aug. 27.

They combine with the

The Italian Radio Symphony Orchestra will be, so to speak playing against the Vienna Symphony, the Moscow Philharmonic, a Symphony orchestra from Tokyo and the famous Gewandhaus Orchestra from Leipzig, East Germany.

The new York City Ballet is appearing in Munich and the Royal Danish Ballet in Kiel. In drama, in addition to the Japanese Kabuki and no plays, there will be the Negro ensemble company from New York, the theater laboratory from Wrocław, Poland, East German ensemble and Norway's Norske Theater.

All this is on top of an extensive repertoire offered by Munich's resident opera and theatrical companies as well as guest performances by other famous West German companies.

The program however, is dominated by foreign contributions in keeping with the intentions of the German organizers to make the 1972 Olympics an international occasion. In contrast to the nationalistic flavor of the last games held in Germany, in Berlin in 1936 under Nazi control.

The West Germans also aim to restore some of the ancient Greek tradition of the Olympics which were originally a festival of arts and music as well as sport.

In addition to the concerts and plays, there will be exhibitions of Japanese and Indian modern art, Persian and Latin-American music, jazz, violinist Yehudi Menuhin and Ravi Shankar performing indian ragas, Nigerian dancing, work by young African painters, Chinese shadow plays, Russian puppet theater and an international folklore festival with dancers from France, Martinique, Portugal, Ghana, Rumania, Mexico, Korea and Poland.

Highway Department Provides Links To Texas' Past

AUSTIN
Everyone knows the Texas Highway Department provides important transportation links between modern cities and towns. Not so well known is the Department's role in providing links to the past, too.

Texas Highway Department crews have been responsible for finding more than 800 archaeological sites since the Department was organized in 1917.

They combine with the more than 4,500 sites currently cataloged at the University of Texas Archaeological Research Laboratories in Austin to give archaeologists a more complete picture of the State's colorful history.

Discoveries made by Highway Department crews include the remains of an Indian burial mound now on display in the Witte Memorial Museum in San Antonio, Inner Space Caverns on Interstate Highway 35 near Georgetown, and an 80-million-year-old fish fossil in West Texas.

Earlier, discoveries were made more or less by accident. Construction was stopped while the site was excavated. Today pinpointing archaeological sites and locating and restoring artifacts is an important part of highway building.

Total American forest area is about 758 million acres.

Turkey's Opium Crops Face Ban

ANAKARA, Turkey

A quietly waged opium war moved further towards conclusion with the arrival here of a high level United States delegation for talks on aid to Turkey's farmers when poppy growing is finally banned next year.

Informed sources said it is hoped a compensation agreement to help Turkey remove itself from the list of opium producing countries will be initiated during the visit of an American agriculture department team led by Dr. Quentin West.

The agreement, under which the United States will financially assist development projects to switch Turkish farmers to substitute crops, would then be formally signed during Prime Minister Nihat Erim's visit to Washington due later this year.

Turkey's decision to ban all opium production is designed to deny narcotics smugglers a source for the morphine and heroin derivatives or opium which the Americans claim accounts for up to 70 per cent of all illegal drug traffic into the United States.

The move by Turkey came only after unrelenting pressure by the United States in its fight to control its growing narcotics problem at home. Turkey produces some of the worlds highest quality opium with up to 15 percent morphine content compared to up to seven percent in that grown elsewhere.

Up to 90,000 farmers derive a substantial income from their traditional opium crop in Turkey, which grows well in poor soil areas of the Anatolian plateau.

The sustained American pressure for a total ban has generated considerable ill feeling.

Former Prime Minister Suleyman Demirel, responding to representations from powerful legislators, refused the United States request. One senior Turkish diplomat in Washington was quoted as telling American pressure groups: "The poor Turkish farmer cannot foot the bills for corruption in your society."

Leftwing agitators active in the last days of Demirel's government led farmers protests and the United States campaign was described as "economic imperialism."

Under United Nations commitments Turkey had gradually reduced its opium growing areas from 42 provinces in 1962 to seven provinces in 1970-71. The government following a visit here by United States Secretary of State, William Rogers, finally bowed to the continuing American pressure and last June reduced poppy growing provinces to four this year, with a total ban after next year's crop.

Discussions have now turned to United States aid in compensating Turkey's farmers, development projects to provide alternative agricultural products and compensation for Turkey's export losses.

Harvest time is June in Turkey's poppy fields, when the purple and white blooms wave about the wild lettuce and the farmers slash the green pods to obtain brown opium gum.

The legal crop, thought to have been about 64 tons in 1970, is taken to government purchasing agents and the farmers receive about four dollars per pound for it.

The same opium, when refined into heroin and morphine fetches up to $700,000 per pound when peddled in small amounts on the illegal American market, narcotics officials say.

Vet Should Keep Record Protected

A veteran should know exactly what benefits his survivors are entitled to upon his death, the Veterans Administration cautioned today.

Family documents, such as military discharge papers and birth and marriage certificates, should be kept where they are protected from fire and theft, but readily available.

Good advice, VA states, is for the veteran and his wife to discuss openly the locations of these papers and where to turn in the event of his death.

Veterans service organizations, as well as VA offices, can be of immeasurable assistance in times of death.

Other important documents that should be safeguarded include separation papers, death certificates, divorce decrees and guardianship or child custody evidence, VA says.

GI insurance policy numbers, VA "C" numbers for all VA correspondence, commercial insurance policies, Social Security numbers and naturalization papers are all important in claiming benefits.

Watson Files For Post

State Senator Murray Watson officially filed with the Democratic Chairman of each county in the 11th Congressional District. In mid December Senator Watson announced his candidacy for the position of Congressman. This post has been held by W. R. Poage for the last 36 years, who has also announced and filed for reelection.

Watson made a tender for the filing fee to the Democratic Chairman along with his application to have his name placed on the ballot in the Democratic Primary.

"Between now and election day it is my intention to carry this campaign to people in every town and village in this district," Watson also said "Since announcing for this office people have convinced me more than ever that they are ready for a change in this office. They do not want yesterday's answers for today's and tomorrow's problems."

A&M Singing Cadets To Present Public Free Show

COLLEGE STATION Texas A&M's Singing Cadets will present "a million dollars worth of music" in a public - free show Feb. 11 at the Bryan Civic Auditorium.

The Singing Cadets performance will be sponsored by the Bryan Public Library as a public - free presentation for citizens of Bryan, College Station and the surrounding area. Curtain time is 7:30 p.m.

A program including "something for everybody" has been worked out by Cadets Director Robert L. Boone and Mrs. R. J. Holmgreen of the library's "Family Night at the Library" Committee.

"We'll do pop, folk, religious and patriotic music," commented Boone, who recently brought the 60-voice glee club back from a West Texas tour. "There'll be music for young folks, middle young folks, older young folks and just folks."

The program accompanied by pianist Mrs. June Bierling will be entirely different from the Singing Cadets' local performance next spring.

Wooden Platforms Elevate Appliances

Platforms of western wood are constructed easily for appliances such as freezers or washers and dryers installed in garages. The platforms will keep appliances off the floor in event of a ruptured water tank or other flooding, and will raise them for convenience of taller persons. Platforms also may be used to keep garbage cans off damp floors.

For lower platforms, runners of 2x6- or 2x8-inch Douglas fir or western pine, on edge, can be covered by decking of 2x4s laid flat. Higher platforms may have legs of 4x4-inch posts, top frame and cross-braces of 2x4s, and decking of 2x4- or 2x6-inch fir or pine.

To enliven a long wall, divide it into three panels of color, either paint or fabric, outlined with wood molding painted off-white.

Trellis Lends Garden Mood

Garden rooms contribute an outdoor feeling while allowing enjoyment of a pleasant enclosure, even when the weather outside is inclement.

Trellis walls and roof of western wood slats make a delightful garden room, admitting just the right amount of light for daytime sitting. Shade-loving potted plants and ferns thrive in hanging baskets.

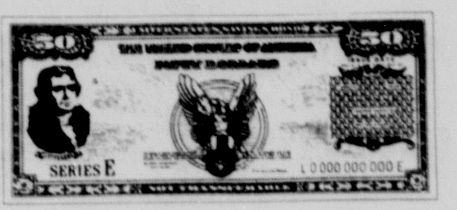

Are you going to live longer than your money?

Maybe you're having a pretty good life now. Your credit is good, you've got a few nice clothes and a good dependable car. And if you're lucky, maybe you own your own home. But that's because you're working. What happens when you retire? You can't live on memories. It's still going to take money. Lots of money. Money that you should be saving now.

And one of the easiest ways to start putting away a few dollars for those retirement years is by joining the Payroll Savings Plan where you work and buying U.S. Savings Bonds.

That way every time you earn a little money for today, you save a little for tomorrow.

Then when the time finally comes to retire, you'll have something put away to retire to.

Now E Bonds pay 3 1/2% interest when held to maturity of 5 years, 10 months - 4%, the first year. Bonds are replaced if lost, stolen, or destroyed. When needed they can be cashed at your bank. Interest is not subject to state or local income taxes, and federal tax may be deferred until redemption.
